DEMOCRACY HAS A JOB

The mass of Americans find it difficult to believe that there are people in the world, some holding high positions, that denounce democracy and advocate forms of tyrannical government which were typical of other centuries.

The celebration, this month, of the 150th anniversary of the establishment of the American Congress, reminds us that, after all, democracy, in its modern version, is a babe compared to the other forms of government. Naturally, the people of some lands turn to autocratic forms when they face great issues that involve serious difficulties.

The success of democracy will not depend upon the oratorical efforts of office-holders, the activities of committee investigating subversive movements or the promises of men seeking public office. Democracy will not be conquered by any "ism" from foreign lands. It will probably stand, or fall, by its ability to solve modern problems that confront the individuals composing the people supporting it.

For example, consider the unemployment problem in the United States. Since the debacle that followed the spurge of 1929 millions of Americans have been unable to secure regular work. They have not had the chance to establish themselves or to look to the future, either for themselves or their families, with any confidence or security.

The present task of democracy, in the United States, is to provide jobs for these people, to give them some chance of success and some hope for the future. It is the obligation of business, which has produced the world's greatest economic structure, to solve the problem. Government has attempted to do so by "made work" but even the advocates of various forms of relief understand that there can be no permanent solution without the cooperation of those who control the economy of this country.

For the last few years big business has been assailing the government, denouncing increased taxation and talking about what could be done if somebody would "take the brakes off." Well, at last, it looks like Washington is inclined to accept the challenge and give business leaders the leeway that they have insisted upon. Maybe, our economic leaders will deliver the goods, which means, provide jobs for Americans who wish to work.

We do not know how far the government will go in complying with the requirements laid down by business leaders but it seems that Congressional leaders intend to give business an opportunity. Well, it will be up to the industrialists, the capitalists and the business to use that opportunity. Then, it will be not too much to say that our present economic system is having its last chance. If things go well, everybody will be happy but if the movement fails, you can look for future legislation that will make the New Deal program look like rock-ribbed conservatism.

NO "BED OF ROSES"

When, and if, you ever get the idea that being a county official is a bed of roses, try to learn the "inside" of certain situations they face.

If their jurisdiction encompasses any cases more trying than these juvenile matters—well, deliver me!

There was, for instance, the case Saturday morning of Nannie Spencer. Thirteen-year-old daughter of a father she had never seen and of a mother now dead, she has been in the care of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Bradley Martin. Nannie, the grandmother said, was a "fit subject" for the reform school. She had been "running around" with married men. Just 13, but "running around."

"Sassy" and all that—in short an incorrigible; her grandmother keeping after her to see that she was at home at the right hours, kept out of bad company, and so on. That was one side of it.

On the other hand, the child—she is a child, even tho her development indicates that she might be sixteen instead of thirteen—complained that her grandmother had always quarreled, nagged at her; had recently told her she hated her; that the grandmother spent most of her money for whiskey for her husband. Tearfully, she declared, "I'd as soon go to the reform school as to have to go back and live with them."

Then County Judge Hill and County Attorney Short came into the case—it was their job to decide what was to be done with the girl. Here was a young, healthy human being who might have, under more favorable circumstances, become a credit to her sex. MIGHT have. But, under present circumstances, preferring Greendale to life with her grandparents whom she, whether rightly or wrongly, believed hating her, wanting to nag her.

Here was a healthy young "animal" for which there seemed no other home than Greendale. Here she was, her own grandmother willing that she be committed to the "reform school." The grandmother claimed she had done all she could for the "child." Her searches for her while she was reportedly away from home with an older, married man were related by an officer.

Then there was the awesome inefficiency of the "reform school" as an agency of real reform. Judge Hill and County Attorney Short were fully aware of the shortcomings of the "reform school." They had never seen anybody reformed by its teachings. They saw the child emerging at the age of 21 from Greendale with the brand, "I am a Criminal," on her head. They foresaw her probable career as one outside the pale of society when she leaves the "reform school" as a woman after eight years of association with other "hard-boiled" girls in that institution. Life and its urgent impulses survive, you know. What to do? No private home in which she might find sanctuary, even if she wanted refuge. The Welfare Department's workings in cases of the kind woefully inadequate.

Admittedly "stumped," the officials took the only apparent way out—13-year-old Nannie was sent to the "reform school."—Floyd County Times.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Life, with many people, is only what they make.

The long lane that has no turning, is straight and narrow.

Intelligence, without conscience, rarely solves a human problem.

If you want to go places in life all you have to do is get going.

Facts to remember: Business, big and little, is interested in profits.

Let's see, now; why was it that our prosperity of 1929 did not last?

Automobile drivers often lose time because they try to save time.

People would understand the Bible better if they understood more of it.

Germany, Italy and Japan work together; the democracies talk together.

If no criticism ever is aimed at you, you haven't a very important job.

Americans like forms, ceremonies, titles and uniforms. In fact, they eat 'em up.

Everything you do for spite later returns its poison into the air you have to breathe.

Be courteous to the individual who tries to sell you something; he may be doing you a favor.

War may not be what we want but sometimes nations, like people, have to do what other people want.

You have a right to be proud of West Liberty only if West Liberty has a right to be proud of you.

Most reformers have the idea that, if they happen to sleep late one morning, the world will go to the dogs immediately.

We know one or two senators who could formulate the foreign policy of the United States without taking time to think.

There may be a few innocent persons in prison but there are a lot of guilty individuals on the outside of penitentiary walls.

It is getting to the point now, that whenever you refuse to do anything that somebody asks you to do, you are intolerant.

We can't help but suspect that the unemployment problem would be more than half solved if the farm problem was disposed of.

One of the hopeful signs of American democracy is that, after 150 years of the republic has a few citizens who do not believe that the government should support them.

TAX MAN TO COME

Mr. E. Ellis Sutton, field representative of the Kentucky Department of Revenue in Frankfort, will be in West Liberty on Wednesday, March 29, 1939, to assist taxpayers in the preparation of their 1939 state income tax returns. Mr. Sutton will be located at County Court House on a free date.

The Kentucky Income Tax Law provides that all single persons having a net income of over $1,000 or a gross income of over $1,500 and all married persons living with husband or wife and having a gross income of over $2,000 or a net income of over $2,500 are required to file an income tax return with the Kentucky Department of Revenue, or its agent, on or before April 15, 1939.

Those single persons claiming a status as head of a family would be governed by the provisions applicable to single persons insofar as they might be required to file returns.

Mr. Sutton said that he had been specially assigned by the Department to render this service and that limited facilities made the Department unable to send a representative to this vicinity at any other time to aid in the preparation of Kentucky 1939 income tax returns.

FARMERS' COLUMN

DARK TOBACCO PAYS

For three years dark tobacco, produced under practical farm conditions, has returned an average of $230 an acre per year at the Western Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Substation at Princeton. Two acres are grown each year in a curing experiment.

Nothing was done either in the growing or curing that could not readily be done by any farmer, according to S. J. Lowry, superintendent of the Experiment Substation. Each tobacco crop followed legumes and grass on ground that had been treated with limestone and phosphate. Manure at the rate of eight tons to the acre was worked into the soil before the tobacco was set. A broadcast application of 300 pounds of 20 percent superphosphate per acre and a hill application of 150 pounds of 5-10-5 fertilizer were used each year. Up to the time of curing the whole area was handled uniformly as regards treatment, culture and the like. Half of the tobacco was cured by one method and half by another, both of which gave similar and satisfactory results.

The average yields for the three crops was 1,428 pounds per acre per year, the average price $16.11 per hundred pounds, and the average acre return per year $230.02.

WINTER PASTURE

Crimson clover and Italian rye grass was worth $20 an acre as cow feed this winter on the dairy farm of J. M. Neal in Graves county.

Sixteen acres were seeded to 10 pounds of crimson clover and 12 pounds of Italian rye grass seed to the acre last September. The field had been in lespedeza. Two tons of limestone and 200 pounds of triple superphosphate to the acre were applied before the clover and grass were seeded. Also about three and a half tons of manure per acre had been spread in the spring of 1938.

An excellent stand of clover and rye grass was obtained and growth was splendid thruout the winter, says W. R. Hoover, assistant farm agent in Graves county.

Mr. Neal owns 84 acres and rents 50 acres. He has terraced, limed and phosphated his entire farm in the past four years. In the same period he has developed a dairy herd of 24 cows from an average production of 222 pounds of butterfat in 1935 to 370 pounds in 1938.

PHOSPHATE TESTED

A summary of 52 fertilizer tests made by Trigg county farmers last year shows that the application of limestone brought an increase of more than two bushels of wheat to the acre, the use of triple superphosphate increased production four bushels and the use of both limestone and superphosphate added eight bushels to yields.

The average yield of wheat on untreated land was a little less than seven bushels to the acre. When limestone alone was used the yield was nine bushels, and where phosphate only was applied, nearly 11 bushels to the acre. Limestone and phosphate produced yields under 15 bushels.

The tests were made with triple superphosphate furnished by the Tennessee Valley Authority, and supervised by Kenneth A. Brabant, assistant county farm agent.

Old Sod Pays

Louis Brown, Christian county Negro farmer, received $215 for 880 pounds of tobacco produced on seven-tenths of an acre of land that had been in grass and clover for 10 years. Tobacco from seven-tenths of an acre that had been in sod only two years brought only $65.

Planting Time Is Here

Kentucky grown trees are best to plant on Kentucky farms. See ad of a reliable nursery in another column in this paper. Plant trees now and enjoy the fruits from them a few years later. No trees. No fruit.

Officials, it seems, are wholly powerless in putting a stop to the raging madness of petty thievery within and around our city. Automobiles are not allowed to park without locking the doors; two traveling men from Lexington who left their car for only a few moments Monday night, lost their overcoats and traveling bags right on Railroad street amid all the coming and going of the public. WASHINGTON NOTES

Tourists Abroad
In 1938 American travelers spent $525,000,000 abroad, according to an estimate made by the Commerce Department. In the same year foreigners spent $160,000,000 in this country. Americans favored Canada with their trips, spending $255,000,000 there.

No Stops

When the three American battleships, New York, Texas and Arkansas, sail this summer on the annual midshipmen's cruise to Europe they will not visit Germany, Italy or Spain. They will call at Antwerp, Rotterdam, Stockholm, Helsingfors, Edinburgh and other points on the cruise.

Yankee Clipper

The Yankee Clipper, giant all-metal plane designed to fly across the Atlantic in 24 hours, was christened by Mrs. Roosevelt recently at the Anacostia Naval Station, near the capital. Water from the seven seas, flown a distance of 37,000 (all but 3,000 over U. S. mail routes) was used in the ceremony.

Health Program

The new national health program, outlined in the bill introduced by Senator Wagner, with administration blessing, does not provide for medical care by the Federal government nor establish a system of health insurance. It is divided into five sections, in which the Federal government offers substantial assistance to the States conforming to certain standards.

The program provides for grants adjusted on a sliding scale in proportion to individual resources of States covering child and maternal health; construction of needed hospitals and health centers; general health service and investigations; general programs of medical care and insurance against loss of wages during periods of temporary disability.

Stimson

Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of State, under President Hoover, continues his open support of the foreign policy of the government, altho making it clear at the same time, that he does not endorse the domestic legislation of the administration. In fact, Mr. Stimson is out and out for affirmative action against the Fascist nations in cooperation with such democracies as England and France. The Berlin-Rome-Tokyo axis, he called "without parallel in our experience" and could be resisted only by farsighted readiness and cooperation by powers opposed to such a system.

Fiscal

For the first eight months of the present fiscal year Federal expenditures were $6,029,657, or $2,333,287, 866 more than income. WPA, the major spender, used $1,547,586,756.

Reorganization

With two reorganization bills before it, Congress last week had an excellent chance to do something about a much discussed measure. The administration measure introduced in the House, is not designed primarily for economy, but the Byrd measure, in the Senate, involves economy. The House bill gives Congress power to reject executive orders within sixty days while the Byrd plan would require Congress as to approve them within 20 days.

Labor Peace

The move for peace between the warring labor factions involves three pressures: (1) the realization that division weakens the efforts of labor in its relation to industry; (2) the realization that the division of labor increases the likelihood that foes of labor will be elected to office and (3) the realization that the rank and file of labor, thruout the nation, are anxious for the civil warfare to end.

Vote On War

Little sentiment in Congress is to be found against the preparedness program of the administration but much support will be had by the proposed amendment to the constitution giving the people the right to vote upon declarations of war, except those involving invasion of the United States, its possessions or attack upon the nations of the Western Hemisphere. For obvious reasons the proposal has popular appeal but, nevertheless, Secretary Hull is out in opposition to it. The chances of its passage, we suspect, are good altho a veto may cut it down before it gets to the States or it may be forgotten when it gets out of Washington.

Wages of Youth

A survey of youth in the labor market, made by the research division of the WPA reveals that 72 percent of the young men and 95 percent of the young women, who were eighth-grade graduates in 1929, 1931 and 1933, earned less than $25 dollars a week while working in 1938. Those who graduated from the eighth grade in 1929 earned an average of $19.50; those of 1931, $17.50 and those of 1933, only $15. Hours remained about the same for all workers and men averaged $19.75 a week while women got only $15.

C. C. C.

From April 1 until April 20 the War Department will enroll 107,061 young men and war veterans to replace those leaving the C. C. C. This will keep the corps at its authorized strength of 300,000, plus 7,000 Indians and 4,000 residents of Hawaii, the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico and Alaska.

MORGAN COUNTY SCHOOL PACE

(Under Auspices of Ova O. Haney, County Supt.)

DIRECTOR NYA PLACEMENT HERE

Dr. Mary H. S. Hays, Director of Junior Placement Service National Youth Administration, Washington, D. C. and Edmund Baxter, Administrative Assistant, Louisville, Kentucky made a tour of the NYA projects in Eastern Kentucky this week and visited the projects at West Liberty. They stopped for some time at the NYA Girls' Residence. After leaving West Liberty Dr. Hays proceeded to Mt. Sterling where she boarded a train for Washington, D. C.

Dr. Hays stated that "The employment offices of the National Youth Administration has placed 155,702 youth in positions. Employment services are functioning in 38 states. During December, 1938, 11,169 young people registered with the Junior Employment Service."

One of the objects of the NYA is to prepare youth for jobs and to help them find jobs suitable to their abilities. Regulations and plans are now in effect when youth are offered private employment where it is not inconsistent, that they accept such employment or be released from the project.

Advisory committees have been organized in each of the counties in this area and one of the functions of this committee is to assist youth to find private employment.

The outstanding purpose of the National Youth Administration is to make better citizens and prepare them to do better the things they will do and fit them for one or more occupations whereby they may make a better living.

One of the regulations governing the releasing of youth is regarding an offer of private employment.

If a youth is offered private employment under favorable conditions with wages as good or better than that paid by the NYA then the youth who fails to accept must be 403d and released from the project. This is now being done under orders of the NYA.

Another plan is to invite private industry to employ youth who are qualified and worthy of employment.

We also invite men who are interested in giving these youth an opportunity, to visit the workshop and other projects where youth are working and learn the skills which they have acquired.

In the workshop at West Liberty are a number of young men who are capable of doing some very creditable carpenter work. Any person interested in employing boys as carpenters should talk to James M. Gevedon, project supervisor.

Those interested in concrete making or construction of concrete work should talk to Daris Whitte, supervisor of the boys who have been doing this type of work.

Those interested in the employment of girls as maids or waitresses should talk to the supervisors of the girls.

Very soon many property owners may want their houses painted and there are a number of boys who have been painting houses and are skilled as painters. Those interested should talk to Glenn Carr, Hubert Ratliff and James M. Gevedon, who will recommend boys that have made good at painting. Give these youth a chance. I have no doubt but what they will make good if given an opportunity.

USE OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS

The Board of Education realizing it is the custodian only and not owner of the school property believes it necessary to establish firmly the principle that the use of the school house should be for community benefit, and the legal right of the people to use school buildings as a place of social entertainment is recognized with all having equal rights and privileges. There shall be no use that can be considered as personal, private, secret, exclusive or for commercial gain.

When a high school building is used by an organization or individual (except for religious activities which shall be passed on by the board) for an entertainment and an admission fee is charged or collection taken the Board of Education shall receive twenty-five percent of gross receipts for the benefit of that school, said fee to be not less than ten dollars. Parent-Teacher meetings, school activity programs and social center meetings shall be held free of cost to the organization.

Dancing and all games of chance in any school in the county under supervision of this board are positively prohibited.—Trimble County Board of Education.

Miss Helen Caudill, NYA supervisor, in Martin county, spent Tuesday in West Liberty with friends.

Class Tournament

An annual event of the Morgan County High School is the "class tournament." As a part of the athletics this tournament is held annually immediately following the close of the district tournament.

A representative of each home room beginning with the 7th grade and ending with the 12th, met in the principal's office and drew for places in the tournament.

Drawing result:
1. 8th Grade
2. Bye
3. Juniors
4. Sophomores
5. Seniors
6. Bye
7. 7th Grade
8. Freshman

In the first game, Thursday, March 9, the juniors and sophomores met in a hotly contested game. The result of the game was uncertain until the final whistle blew. The juniors probably due to their experience, were victorious by a score of 13-11.

On Friday, March 10, the freshmen and 7th grade met in the second game of the tournament. Due to height and experience the freshman team won by the score of 17-13.

On Monday, March 13th, the juniors met the 8th grade. For the second time in the tournament the juniors proved too strong for their opponents and defeated them by 29-9.

On Tuesday, March 14th, the seniors and freshman teams met. The seniors won easily by a score of 30-7. The juniors and seniors met in the finals, Wednesday, March 15. A very close game was expected, however, the juniors were too strong for the seniors and the scoreboard read 38-8 in favor of the juniors.

Real sportsmanship was shown by the pupils of the various home rooms. This fact was demonstrated both in the "gym" and in the home rooms after the games.

CCC ENROLLMENT

Official announcement of the April 1939 CCC enrollment and information about the Civilian Conservation Corps.

THE CIVILIAN CONSERVATION CORPS—Robert Fechner, Director, was created in 1933 to accomplish constructive, worthwhile work on National and State forests, on parks, and on other lands where such work will contribute to the welfare of the country as a whole. Its equally important purpose was to give jobs to approximately 300,000 men in vigorous, healthful, outdoor activity. The program was extended by Act of Congress in 1935 for a period of two years and again for three years beginning July 1, 1937. The strength of the Corps under the present law may not exceed 300,000 enrollees, including both juniors and veterans. The United States Department of Labor has general responsibility for the selection of junior enrollees.

YOUNG MEN ARE ELIGIBLE—If they are United States citizens, between the ages of 17 and 23, (a man is eligible until he reaches his 24th birthday), unmarried, "unemployed and in need of employment," enrollees with dependents are required to make allotments to such dependents. Enrollees without dependents must make deposits of pay with the Chief of Finance, War Department, to be repaid to them upon completion of their term of enrollment. Selections under the direction of agencies designated by the Department of Labor are made from the most qualified applicants without any discrimination on account of race, creed, or color. Quarterly enrollments (January, April, July, October) are made in such numbers as are needed to fill camp vacancies.

PHYSICAL FITNESS IS IMPORTANT—Preliminary physical examinations are given to all men to make sure that no conditions exist which would make it inadvisable for any man to undertake vigorous outdoor work, and to guard against communicable diseases. Those in camp will receive free medical and dental attention, and hospital care if needed. In case of accident in line of duty, enrollees will come under the United States Employees Compensation Law.

WORK TO BE DONE—Includes forest improvement and protection, trail making, soil erosion control, flood control, landscaping and development of park and recreational areas, and many other similar projects. The work program is planned and directed by forestry, park, and conservation representatives of the Federal and State Governments. Except in emergencies, working hours are forty each week.

LEARNING ON THE JOB—Experienced foremen supervise each project, explaining its purpose and teaching how to perform the various jobs skillfully. When there is construction work to be done, for example, enrollees learn the elements of carpentry, stone masonry, or concrete work. Each job is a means of learning useful skills.

CAMP LIFE—Consists of a balanced program of work and leisure time activities. For those who wish supplementary instruction in subjects of practical value, there is a worthwhile educational program planned to meet the needs and interests of the enrollees. Recreation and sports are likewise well organized. There are opportunities for advancement to positions of leadership with corresponding increases in pay status. Camps are under the jurisdiction of Army reserve officers but no military training is given, the CCC enterprise being entirely civilian in nature.

Young men with stability of purpose, ambition, and character contribute to and profit by CCC experience. Adjustment to orderly and healthful group living, and participation in the job training, educational and other opportunities afforded them thru enrollment, help make camp life of lasting value to enrollees.

DURATION OF ENROLLMENT—Enrollment is for six months. When a man enrolls he is expected to stay in camp for this length of time. Otherwise he causes the Government excessive expenditure for clothing, transportation, and other items, and does not fulfill his part of the enrollment agreement. In case some extraordinary circumstance arises, or a man receives an offer of permanent employment, he may be released before the end of his six months' term.

PRIVILEGE OF REENROLLMENT—After an enrollee has satisfactorily served a full six months' enrollment he is given the opportunity of reenrolling at his camp. If he does not wish to reenroll, he may accept a discharge and be provided with return transportation to his place of selection or his home, whichever is nearest to camp. He may not again be selected for enrollment until the expiration of six months from the date of his discharge. Maximum length of service is limited to two years.

APPLICATION MAY BE PLACED—and further information obtained from your local CCC selecting agent whose name and address is, Robert B. Arnett, Morgan County CCC Selecting Agency, West Liberty, Kentucky.

Band Concert

On Monday, March 27, the Morgan County High School Band will give a short concert on the veranda of the Cole Hotel. Most of the numbers that will be played will come from Bennett's Band Books, numbers 1 and 3. The band is working on its commencement program. Besides playing for the graduation and other programs, the band will give an open air concert during commencement week. The members of the band wish to extend their sincere thanks to the town and surrounding communities for their wonderful support. This outside interest has been one of the causes of the rapid progress of the band.

The Transylvania Concert Band will give a program in the high school auditorium, Friday afternoon at 4:40. This is probably the best concert band in the state of Kentucky. Our band is expected to profit greatly by hearing and seeing this band in action.

If our band were giving a concert in a strange town, we would appreciate the people coming to hear it, therefore, come and hear the good program that the Transylvania band will give us.

New Library Books

The WPA Pack Horse Library has received several nice donations of books during the month of March. The Ezel school in Morgan county donated 76 books. Mr. Perkins of Payton 4 books, Monroe Gevedon of Grassy 1 book, Wendell Brown 2 books. The WPA sent 12 new books and the Public Library of Springfield, Massachusetts, sent 89 books, all of which are in circulation, and the library was certainly glad to get them.

Magazines were donated by the following people of West Liberty: Mrs. Blaine Nickell, Mrs. H. B. Murray, Mrs. Earl Tredway, Mrs. Martha Caskey, Dr. R. J. Poynter, Rosco Brong and Carl Elam. The people of the town and county are greatly interested in the library and their interest and donations are greatly appreciated. Katherine Arnett, supervisor of the library, will go to Paintsville, to an institute the 27, 28, 29. Many new things will be taught there. The books have been cleaned and recovered this month, the WPA furnished several rolls of paper to use as coverings for the books. The carriers keep close check on their books and try to visit all the homes and keep the books in good condition for the many readers.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Mrs. S. R. Collier was brought to the Morgan County Hospital from Lexington, Friday and is doing fine. Miss Edna Wells was moved from the hospital Friday to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rosco Brong where she is convalescing.

Miss Treva Smith is in the hospital for medical treatment. Mrs. Della Evans of Liberty Road was discharged Tuesday.
